

Hello, new Business Administration student!

We tutors would like to welcome you to the Savonia UAS and of course congratulate you on this fantastic decision to study Business Administration!

For most new students, beginning of the studies is a huge change in life: a new school in a completely new environment and also a lot of new people and situations, which might feel a bit exciting or nerve-wrecking at first. That is why there is a group of tutors waiting for you, who will help you to get started with your studies.

Tutors will guide you with the daily routines of student life and will show you the school policies so everyone's transition to studies and student life in a whole would be as smooth as possible. Tutor is student's support and safeguard. In addition of new classmates, you will most likely get to know your own tutors and they will be with you for the first days of school, taking care of the group.

In first few weeks you will get a lot of information, but don't worry – you can always ask advice from your tutors about anything that comes to your mind.

You can recognize the tutors from business student pink overalls along with the pink "Tuutori"-shirts.

See you at the campus and outside of it!

Best wishes,

Tutors of Business Administration
